(Press Release) (WEST PALM BEACH, FL) – Quantum House is proud to announce the appointment of five new members to its Board of Directors. Terra Brown, Timothy D. Burke, Corinne Penksa Izzo, Aimee Mangold and Dale Millner have joined the esteemed group. These accomplished professionals bring diverse leadership experience in development, human resources, finance, media and community-building, strengthening Quantum House’s mission to support families with children receiving critical medical care in Palm Beach County.

“We are honored to welcome these outstanding leaders to our board,” said Greg Quattlebaum, President and CEO of Quantum House. “Their collective experience and passion for our mission will help us expand our impact and serve even more families in need.”

Izzo, a resident of West Palm Beach, is a Vice President with Related Ross and focuses on the development management of the Class A office portfolio in West Palm Beach. Projects include the development of 360 Rosemary, One Flagler and properties in CityPlace. In the community, Corinne is a member of the Junior League of the Palm Beaches, the Flagler Museum and is a recent graduate of the 2025 Leadership Engage Palm Beach County program. Before joining Related Ross in 2014, Corinne worked at Price Waterhouse Coopers in New York. Corinne graduated from Pennsylvania State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in finance and a minor in psychology.

Mangold serves as Vice President of Human Resources at Storage Rentals of America (SROA). Before joining SROA, she was Vice President of Human Resources for Kolter Hospitality. Mangold is a member of Palm Beach County Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM), serving two years as President in 2019 and 2020. She was also the recipient of the Excellence in Human Resources Award from South Florida Business and Wealth in 2019 and 2020, along with the 2022 Lifetime Achievement award from Palm Beach County SHRM. Mangold holds a Bachelor of Science degree in human resources management from Colorado State University Global. She resides in North Palm Beach.

Burke is the former longtime publisher of The Palm Beach Post and Palm Beach Daily News. He currently advises companies and executives on leadership, media relations, digital transformation, HR/workforce management and technology. In a career spanning four decades, Burke also held various leadership positions at Gatehouse (Gannett) Media, Cox Media Group and The Miami Herald to name a
